REDS ARE JUBILANT.

They Shriek with Joy Over the Release of the Anarchists.

Most Says, "Justice to the Living Has Come at Last."

Arrangements Being Made for Mass-Meeting Next Week.

New York Anarchists are as jubilan to-day on account of the pardoning of Chicago brethren by Gov. Altgeld as if living in their ideal of the millen-

Herr Most, the leader of the followers of the red flag, was happier than on any day since he was released from Blackwell's Island, and stated to an "Evening World" reporter this morning that it will require four columns in his Freiheit this week to give vent to his exhultation.

Justice to the living has come a last," he said, "but Gov. Altgeld cannot put life in the murdered dead. His decision and proclamation are exactly in line with what we have been claiming for seven years.

"It was prejudice that convicted the martyrs who were hanged, and the same prejudice that made victims of the men who have just been pardoned.
"We in New York are jubilant," he injustice has said, "because an injustice has been righted, and to show our appreciation of Gov. Altgeld's action we will hold a mass meeting next week. We are now looking for a hall large enough to accommodate those who wish to attend, and as soon as we secure that, speakers will be selected." "Will any of the pardoned men be present?" Herr Most was asked.

MICHAEL SCHWAB, (One of the pardoned Anarchists.)
"I hardly think so," he said. "They need rest, he added, "and I would not ask them to come now. Maybe they will later."
Then Most broke into a stream of denunciation of the jury that convicted the Anarchists. He said the jurors and Judge Gray were influenced by public opinion and that they are amendable to take law which Anarchists so much hate.

take law which Anarchists so much hate.
"Do you think there will be suits for damages?" Most was asked.
"I don't know that there will," he said, "but there ought to be, and if the jury was a jury of freemen the families of the dead marryrs would be given big damages. But juries are prejudiced and Anarchists don't get justice."

Justus H. Schwab, whose saloon at 50 First street, is headquarters for many of the long-haired fraternity, was so delighted with the pardoning that the bulletin-board in his saloon fairly shouts with words of exhultation.

On it is pasted a despatch which Schwab received and which reads:

"Alizeld has liberated Fielden. Schwab and Neebs. Come to the World's Fair.

Below that was a clipping from last night's Sporting Extra of "The Evening World," announcing the news, and in the centre of the board was pasted a picture of Gov. Aligeld printed on crimson tinted paper.

said he had been in the business for thirty years. He told the Commission that jute ceutal bags were made in this country, chiefly in California, although there were a few manufactured in the Eastern States.

He had never been able to distinguish between foreign and American made bags. The claim that all Calcutta bags were sewed by hand, he said, was a mistaken one.

They used machines in India for making being being as well as in California, and in the did not believe that anyone could distinguish between them.

When asked if there was any difference in appearance between burlaps of foreign manufactures, such as the Dundee and Calcutta fabrics and that there was not any material difference so far as his observation went.

He contradicted the testimony given by James R. Collins yesterday in regard to distinguishing marks on fortign and domestic bags, and said that he had never been able to find any difference in the threads used in the selvedge, as Mr. Collins had stated.

Mr. Bowers said he had never paid any duty on returned bags which he had reverbeen able to find any difference in the threads used in the selvedge, as Mr. Collins had stated.

heard her husband coming upstairs to her apariments. She knew his footsteps and she quickly locked all the doors leading to her flat.

Talt kicked and pounded at the kitchen door and yelled for admittance, which his wife refused him. Then the maddened man pulled a revolver and shot through the door.

The bullet passed within an inch of Mrs. Tait's head and lodged in the wall behind her. She screamed, and her cries alarmed the neighbors, who summoned Policeman Quinn, of the East Twenty-second street station.

The officer met Tait coming down from his wife's floor and put him under arrest. Tait resisted and took Quinn by the throat. He then raised his revolver to fire full at Quinn's face, when the latter knocked his arm up and the builet lodged in the ceiling.

Ckizen sran to Quinn's assistance, and Tait was quickly subdued and lodged in the station-house. On the way to the court this morning Tait remarked to the officer:

"I'm not through yet. I'll finish her before I'm done."

GALLAGHER CHANGES HIS MIND. Will Not Press His Charge Against

Policeman Haggerty. Policeman James Haggerty, of the West Twentieth street station, was summoned to Police Headquarters this morning by Inspector McEvoy, to an-swer charges preferred against him by Fireman James Gallagher, of 428 West Twenty-fifth street.

Gallagher's nine-year-old daughter Fanny was drowned under peculiar cirranny was drowned under peculiar cir-cumstances in the North River last Tuesday. While playing with a number of other children at the Twentieth street dock a dog chased her, and in fleeling from the animal she fell into the river. The dog was owned by the captain of a barge that was moored alongside, and all the other children united in saying that the man had set the animal at them.

all the other children united in saying that the man had set the animal at them.

When the fireman heard of his child's death he rushed to the pier and found Policeman Haggerty in the middle of a crowd gazing at the water. No attempt had been made up to that time to search for the body.

The father then demanded that Haggerty should arrest the man who had set the dog at his child and whom he believed to be responsible for her death. This the policeman refused to do on the ground that he had seen no offense committed, nor did he know there was a child in the water.

The father and his son then began to drag for the body, but did not recover it until next morning.

Fireman Gallagher made charges against the policeman to Capt. Schults, of the West Twentieth street station, who reported to the Inspector. The only explanation Haggerty could make was that he had seen nothing of the occurrence.

The Inspector listened to the story be-was that he had seen nothing of the oc-currence.

The Inspector listened to the story be-hind closed doors this morning, and then the fireman said, with a show of re-luctance, that he would not press the complaint. His child was dead, he said, and it would do no good to revive the whole story and remind his wife of it. The policeman was allowed to go back to his station. The captain of the barge has disappeared.
